"Alison's Pantry has changed my life in so many positive ways. It's something that really just fell into my lap, and has been a godsend to my family. Before I placed my first order, I was so nervous about how I would do. I live in a tiny farming community, with one little grocery store. To my surprise, the interest in Alison's Pantry started to become overwhelming (in a good way), and people talk to me about it regularly. I was worried about the time it would take, but it's honestly the least time-consuming job I've ever had. When I calculate my time (about 8 hours a month), I make around $90 an hour. Being able to stay home with my children, and be there for them regularly, is the most important thing to me. Alison's Pantry is about empowering women (and men) in a way that they can create the income they want, while still being present in their home. It's about creating lasting relationships, and community involvement. Lastly, I'm grateful for Alison, the founder of this company, for making it what it is today and for giving hundreds of women the empowerment and opportunity to help provide for their families, while also putting amazing food on the table. If you are on the fence about joining, all I can say is... take the chance. I'm so grateful I did."
